In this unit, we will be investigating 'Healthy Me'. This links with our big overall question and we will look at making healthy choices.

This will focus on exercise, diet, screen time, hobbies and how to keep your mental health up.

We will also look how to support others and where to go for help.

Being an Author

This term, our focus will be on heroes vs villains stories. Our focus will be on the classic book, "The Iron Man" by Ted Hughes, not to be confused with Tony Stark.

This will follow a narrative structure, but we will be looking at the more creative elements of our writing, such as metaphors, similes and sentence of three. Ultimately, the children will create their own heroes and villains.

Being a Mathematician

We begin this term by working through the practical side of fractions. We will be looking at wholes, parts and comparing fractions.

This will move onto adding and subtracting fractions with the same and different denominators and then converting fractions.
